Arafat will be head of new state

Palestinians to proclaim independence next month

TUESDAY, AUGUST 16, 1988

CAIRO, Aug 15, (Agencies): The Palestine Liberation Organisation will proclaim the birth of an independent Palestinian state in the Israelioccupied territories next month, with Jerusalem its capital and PLO chairman Yasser Arafat its head of state, Egypt's Middle East News Agency said today.

The agency, in a Cairo-datelined dispatch, said it obtained a copy of the "independence document" calling for the establishment of a Palestinian state on territory allocated by a 1947 UN partition plan for an Arah state.

The agency, said the provisional government of the new state will be prepared to open peace negotiations with Israel, presumably within the framework of an international conference on Middle East peace.

The council is expected to meet in the second half of September to plot the PLO's future course following King Hussein's decision to break off links with the occupied West Bank.

The document, the agency said, calls for the "declaration in Jerusalem of the establishment of an independent Palestinian state within the partition boundaries approved by the UN Security Council in its resolution

In a 35-minute speech outthe 41st anniversary of India's independence, Rajiv did not name Pakistan but said Sikh insurgents were getting help from across the border. Sikh radicals have been agitating since 1982 for an independent homeland in Punjab, which borders Pakistan. About 1,700 people have died in the violent campaign in Punjab so far this year. Rajiv has often accused Pakistan of giving arms and training to Sikh rebels, but he has not supplied any proof. Pakistan has denied the charge.

Security

Indian border guards shot and killed 11 Pakistanis yesterday when they attempted to slip across the border into Jammu and Kashmir state north of Punjab, authorities said.

At least 2,500 uniformed policemen were on duty as Rajiv delivered the annual Independence Day address at the 16th century Red Fort, according to a police official in charge of security measures. Guests including cabinet ministers and foreign diplomats were frisked before the 40-minute ceremony. Sharpshooters were posted on tall huildings around the red sandstone fort.

Rajiv said the major tasks before India were to fight poverty and unemployment. "We have to be ready to make any sacrifice," he said. "I am willing to make any sacrifice for the welfare of the country."

He also called for nuclear disarmament, saying the resources used in weaponry could help in alleviating world poverty. Rajiv attributed the achievement to the agriculture policies of his mother and grandfather. He said though the worst drought last year "slowed down economie development ... it did not stop progress.

Rajiv cited some of the successes of his administration, including accords that settled agitations or insurgencies in Assam, Tripura, Mizoram and West Bengal states.

Rajiv said the government had "done a lot" to help the more than 270 million people living below the poverty line, but added that "still a lot has to be done." 'Another problem that India (Continued on Page 2)

the US Navy eight days ago from their drifting dinghy in the Gulf of Oman, were finally headed home today after an unexpected hopscotch tour of four warships.

US military sources said the five were to be turned over to Omaniauthorities at Goat island in the Strait of Hormuz, and then transferred to Iranian diplomatic officials' control.

The five were picked up on Aug 8 by the US missile cruiser Vincennes, and said they had spent eight days adrift after their fishing boat sank.

They were without food, and their water supply had run out. US military doctors said they were suffering from exposure. dehydration, and body rashes, and probably could not have survived another 24 hours.

The Vincennes mistakenly shot down an Iranian civilian ietliner.

When ordered on "another mission," according to US sources, it turned the five over to the missile cruiser Texas, which kept them aboard until they could be moved to the frigate Fanning.

From there, the five were shifted again to the missile destroyer Robinson, which was to take them to the Omani base in the Hormuz Strait.

The military sources, noting that the exchange took longer than anticipated to arrange, said the actual turnover was expected to take place late today.

Dehumanising Soviet women

MOSCOW, Aug 15, (UPI): A newspaper in a letter published yesterday that Soviet industry dehumanises women.

Galina Loskutova, 47, wrote in to the Communist Party daily from a town near Chelyabinsk in the Ural mountain area of Siberia. She works as a pump operator at the Troitsakaya district power station.
"After 15 years of working a three-shift system there," Loskutova says, "my stomach is wrecked... my kids grew up without me, for their mother was either working or sleeping it off after night shifts."

Because of the tremendous war losses among soldiers in World War II, women today comprise 52 per cent of the population of 286 million, and almost all work. Low Soviet salaries and high divorce rates also force women in to the work-

Loskutova condemned general living conditions. She said she wears men's boots and has trouble with food purchases.

"What leisure time have 1?" Loskutova asked. "Washing, cleaning, cooking, dishes, redecorating. I can never remember doing any relaxing in the house. Soviet industrial life is hard on women who find it next to impossible to remain feminine.

Loskutova appeals to the party newspaper to fight to improve the plight of ordinary Soviet women.

A top Christian official, Phalange Party leader George Saadeb, yesterday threatened to torpedo the poll if a president was imposed by foreign powers. Aoun, apparently in reaction to the threats, put his 35,000 troops across Lebanon on alert.

A top Christian militia leader said that the militia might ask Christian deputies not to attend the session to prevent the election of a pro-Syrian president.

Christian hardliners are strongly opposed to Syria's strong influence in Lebanon which could allow it to swing the outcome of the poll.

Uri Lubrani, the co-ordinator of Israeli activities in southern Lebanon, told the Christian Voice of Lebanon radio station late yesterday that, "it will be a great success," if the nation's next president is capable of manocuvring among the country's various factions.

But Luhrani warned, "the situation in Lebanon will stay unstable if Lebanese elect a president who would be a puppet for the Syrians."

Seoul police block unity march

SEOUL, Aug 15, (Agencies): Riot police using tear gas and sticks made 1,200 arrests today as they stopped 4,000 South Korean students and dissidents leaving a Seoul university to meet North Korean students, witnesses said.

"Protesters were kicked and punched, beaten with sticks and charged with rocks and tear gas by police ringing the campus, said one.

Mandela, 70, was transferred from Polismoor prison to the hospital on Friday.
Strauss said Mandela's left lung was imflamed but that there was no evidenc eof malignancy. He said Mandela's windpipe and lung area had been examined, and doctors had performed a biopsy and drainage operation.

Mandela's wife, Winnie, and youngest daughter, Zindzi, flew from Jobannesburg to see him Saturday, and returned without making any public comment.

Mandela, whn has been in prison since 1962, is serving a life term for sabotage and conspiracy to overthrow the white-led government. He is widely considered the paramount leader of South Africa's black majority, and his hospitalisation bad prompted anti-apartheid groups to renew calls for his release.
On Sunday, Health Minister

Willie van Niekerk said Mandela was receiving the best possible treatment and described Tygerberg's lung unit as comparable to the world's best.

One-child policy cuts China's population

BEUING, Aug 15, (AP): China's one-child population policy bas resulted in 104 million fewer births in the past decade, the state statistical bureau said today...
Bureau officials said reduced population growth in the 1978-87 period will save the state 1 trillion yuan ($270 billion) in educational and other costs, the official Xinhua news agency

China now has more than one billion people, one-fifth of the world's population. In 1978. shortly before the government initiated its policy of one child for each couple, the population stood at 962 million. In 1949, when the communist government took over, the nation had 542 million people. The state statistic hureau said that as a result of China's family planning, the birth of the world's 5 billionth person in July 1987 was two years later than it would have been, and Asia's 3 billionth person, thought to have been born this summer, came four years later than anticipated.

Officials have recently aeknowledged a relaxation of the onechild policy, with couples in rural areas allowed to try once to have a boy if their first child is a girl.

British hostages are 'alive'

LONDON, Aug 15, (Reuter): A Church of England official who met an Iranian diplomat said today he was confident Anglican envoy Terry Waite and two other British bostages were alive.

"I am optimistie that he (Waite) is alive and that the other British bostages are alive. As to whether anything is going to hap-pen quickly, I am rather more cautious," John Lyttle said after bolding five days of talks with the diplomat in London. Lyttle also attended a first day of talks between the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr Robert Runeie, and Mobammad Reza Mobammadi, an Iranian Foreign Ministry official.

The talks, held at the Archbishop's London residence of Lambeth Palace, were the latest in a series of diplomatie initiatives by Runcie to try to gain the freedom of his envoy.

Waite was kidnapped in Beirut in January 1987 while trying to negotiate the freedom of Western bostages, believed beld by pro-Iranian groups.

"We believe they (the Iranians) do have very considerable influence. And they say so themselves," Lyttle said in a radio

The Church said after the talks ended last night that they bad been conducted in an open and relaxed manner. We now look to tran to use all its undoubted influence in Lebanon to help to bring about the release of Brian Keenan, John McCarthy and Terry Waite," the statement ended. The move by the Church coincided with the first visit by a British diplomat to Iran for a David Reddaway, who left on

Palestinian-Jordanian dialogue

A KUWAITI daily vesterday urged the PLO and Jordan to resolve issues that have popped up after King Husseln severed links with the occupied West Bank In a manner that does not jeopardise the Palestinian goal of self-determination.

Commenting on the meetings between the PLO delegation and the Jördanlan side which ended in Amman Sunday, the newspaper sald Jordan's agreement to discuss the question of the East Bank Palestinians "Is an Important Indication of the success of the Palestinian-Jordanian dialogue."

King Husseln gave East bank Palestinians the option of retaining their Jordanian citizenship or keeping their Palestinian Identity. The severed legal and administrative ties with the West Bank last

The newspaper emphasised that dialogue is the only way the two sides will end the dally hardships of the Palestinians under the Israeli occupation.

"Dialogue is commendable but when it ends in agreement on the outstanding issues it becomes fruitful and constructive and paves the way for fulfilment of the Palestinian objectives of self-determination and establishment of the independent state," the newspaper

Follow the Yemenis

ANOTHER local newspaper yesterday called on the Arab states to follow the example of the two Yemens in encouraging removal of all barriers blocking free movement of citizens and capital.

"The experiment of the two Yemens can be expanded and promoted as a fact of life and a sign of progress and civilisation," the dally said in reference to the recent joint Yerneni move.

North and South Yemens have allowed their citizens to cross the borders with the identity cards alone. They have also sanctioned the free movement of capital and joint Investment of the natural wealth in the two sectors.

The newspaper hoped for similar initiatives in the Arab world, abolishing passports and borders and allowing Arabs to move freely from one part of the Arab world to the other.

Farmers encouraged to cultivate wheat

THE Public Authority for Agriculture and Fish Wealth has been praised for encouraging local farmers to plant wheat. Sources said that farmers supported the project to cultivate wheat according to the wishes of HH the Amir of Kuwait. Sources added that wheat cultivation in Kuwait could succeed despite the hot and arid weather conditions, provided farmers increased irrigation. Wheat needs continuous water to grow in Kuwait. Underground water near the surface can help provide water for irrigation, the sources said. Kuwaiti farmers pointed out that they cannot depend on the small amount of rain water in Kuwait to irrigate wheat. But they concurred that Kuwaiti farmers have sufficient technical experience io cultivation and irrigation methods to solve the problem of scarcity of

KUWAIT Television has appointed director Hussain Al Saleh to supervise the production of one of its costliest programmes, Over KD 100,000 has been set aside for this programme, which will be shown in Kuwait and a number of Gulf states during the next Ramadan.

The series will feature Kuwaiti artists, such as Saad Al Faraj, Ghanem Al Saleh,

Hussain Al Saleh, the director

Ahmad Al Saleh, Ihrahim Al Sallal, Hayat Al Fahad, Maryam Al Ghadhan, and

Maryam Al Saleh. Hussain Al Saleh said he has been working on the series for the last three months and expects shooting to begin in September. The daily serial will have 30 parts, each an hour long. Each episode will feature society and lifestyle in a variety of Arah and foreign capitals.

Saad At Fara)

Al Saleh has also been working on a play for the last five years. It is a comedy, written by Mohammed Muharak and starring Hayat Al Fahad, Maryam Al Saleb, Maryam Al Ghadban, and Intisar Al Sharah. Al Saleh had some difficulties casting: the play is about a society that is completely dominated by women and it took a while to find the required number of actresses.

Prague Spring anniversary

Communist leaders appear uneasy

By Alison Smale

PRAGUE. Czechoslovakia, (API: Czechoslovakia's communist leaders appear uncasy about the upcoming anniversary of the August 1968 invasion that put them into power and crushed the "Prague Spring" liberal

The state-run media has made a series of attacks on former Communist Party leader Alexander Dubcek and other men prominent in the 1968 attempt to create "socialism with a human

The adoption of that slogan by none other than Mikhail Gorbachev makes it harder for Prague's leaders to assert that current reforms in the Soviet Union have nothing to do with Dubcek's policies two decades ago.

The similarities between Gorbachev's and Dubcek's ideas has huoyed the hopes of some dissenters in Prague that there will be change once the awkward anniversaries of 1988 - this fall marks 70 years since the founding of a democratic Czechoslovakia in 1918 -- are past.

Revise But Soviet Premier Nikolai Ryzhkov signalled in July that Moscow is not yet ready to revise its official view that the 1968 invasion was needed to stop Czechoslovakia from pulling out of the communist bloc.

Ryzhkov said nothing critical about Dubcek's specific policies. but Czechoslovak hardliners immediately took a harsher tone toward 1968's ousted leaders. On July 14, the party daily Rude Prayo attacked writers and journalists who bad promoted reform in 1968 in what some saw as a veiled warning to current Czechoslovak journalists not 10 imitate the recent frankness of the Soviet media.

On July 16. Rude Pravo accused Dubcek of taking advantage of Gorbachev's reforms to demand his own political rehabilitation. The mer leader, now a retired forestry Five days later, in a regular feature the party daily ran "the yellowisb pages of 1968." A worker charged that the leaders of 20 years "seduced thousands of people who believed them, and then left them high and dry (without support).' However, Western diplomats and dissidents wonder if the official tactic of discussing 1968 to discredit its leaders will actually revive interest in the "Prague Spring."

Most of Czechoslovakia's 15.5 million people retreated into private life and the pursuit of material wealth after Dubcek was ousted as party leader and replaced by Gustav Husak in 1969.

Husak's own replacement last December has given them little faith in the tentative economic reforms now being attempted in Prague. Milos Jakes, who took over as general secretary, was responsible for the purge of 500,000 party members in the

So far, there is little sign that the Aug 21 anniversary of the invasion will provoke public protests. Known dissidents have received police warnings against action and some plan to spend the day in country retreats rather than in police detention in the capital.

Security forces also bave been vigilant of some Western journalists in Prague, making a full copy of one reporter's notes and dogging others' movements

Appeals

A new, independent peace group claiming about 60 mem-bers is distributing underground appeals calling on citizens to dress in the red, white and blue colours of the Czechoslovak flag

Non-dissenters concede the occasion evokes powerful emotions, but are quite certain there will be nothing like the spontancous outpouring of protes! that drove thousands onto the streets when Soviet and other Warsaw Pact tanks arrived in 1968.

Marcos still a leader somewhere

By Robert H. Reid

LAOAG. Philippines, (AP): In his traditional stronghold in the northern Philippines. Ferdinand Marcos remains a pervasive, respected figure more than two years after a Manila-based uprising toppled his 20-year authorilarian administration.

"I tell you that if he ran again. he would win hands down here." said Rafael Benemerito, mayor of the Ilocos Norte province town of Pagudpud. "You know. we llocanos are very clannish."

In most of the Philippines, the Marcos years are associated with massive corruption, economic mismanagement and oppression. But in his native llocos Norte province, Marcos still enjoys widespread respect among his fellow Hocanos. President Corazun Aquino has refused to allow Marcos to return to the Philippines from his exile in Hawaii, even to attend the funeral of his mother. Marcos fled to Hawaii after the February 1986 uprising that propelled Aquino to power. Pro-Marcos activists now speak of Marcos returning as a private citizen, rather as a challenger to take hack power.

Rewarded

Marcos was the first flocano to reach the presidency. He rewarded his home province, which has a pupulation of about 440,000, with roads and development projects. Ilocanos are strongly represented within the armed forces, although precise figures on their numbers are unavilable.

Rcp. Roque Ahlan, a pro-Marcos Congressman, claims allegations of massive corruption during the Marcos years and the embezzlement of up to $10 hillion have not significantly dented support for the ousted leader.

"In spite of all the accusations and charges, we still look up to Marcos, Ablan said. would like to see him come home. which is the right of every Filipino.

Not every llocano is a dedicated Marcos loyalist. Communist rebels have made strong inroads in Ilocos Norte since 1981. The military estimates there may be as many as 500 regular members of the communist New People's Army.

But the spirit of Marcos looms heavy over this province about 250 miles (400 kms) north of Manila. Rural hus stops and walls of huildings in the provincial cupital Laoag still bear graffiti such as "No to Cory" or "Marcos once more," his slogan in the fraud-tainted 1986 elec-

"People here still respect Mar-cos," said the Rev. Ruhen Abaya, a Roman Catholic priest in Batac. "They would like to see him come home, although not necessarily as president. They

Mrs Aquino refused to allow him to come home, and the mother remains unburied. Still, rumours that Marcos will come home soon persist.

The province's association with Marcos has not cost it a hig price under the new administration. Provincial Gov. Rodolfo Farinas said the Aquino government has not discriminated chs this did not constitute against llocos Norte in the sovereign rights. allocation of state funds.

Republican convention

By Michael Gelb

NEW ORLEANS, (Reuter): As he nears the Republican presidential nomination he first set his sights on nearly 10 years ago, Vice-President George Bush is still struggling to emerge from Ronald Reagan's shadow.

Political experts in both parties, including the vice-president's own strategists, say his Thursday night acceptance speech could be crucial in his effort to establish himself as his own man in voters' eyes.
"His speech will give the American people a chance to look at Bush in an unvarnished manner in which he can convey his views, his beliefs and his criticisms of (Democratic presidential candidate) Michael Dukakis," said Peter Teeley, the top press adviser to Bush for most of the past decade until he left his campaign post in May.

"For the first time, people will see him outside the shadow of Ronald Reagan," he said. Busb's choice of a vice-

Scama

But the country is simultaneously enduring a boom in schemes, scams and swindles. For those willing to play fast and loose, substantial gaps in what the government calls the "socialist commodity economy" are just asking to be filled.

In freewheeeling Shenzhen, a special economic zone" near Hong Kong, two dozen "Buddhist monks" with hand-made gowns were arrested recently when police learned they were actually farmers masquerading to beg for alms. In soutbern Guiyang, 200 women complained to auth-orities that "Sun brand cosmetology freckle syrup," a face lotion, abruptly darkened their skin. One shocked busband sought a divorce. The fly-hynight manufacturer changed products.

And when a student drowned in a lake in Henan Province last month, local fishermen demanded nearly $300, his family's entire savings, to search for the body.

"On the one hand, the commodity economy can belp improve social morals. But on the other, it contains elements that can hinder healthy moral development," said the official magazine society.

"in recent years the trend of putting materialistic interests before morality and justice has emerged in Chinese society," it noted. "A trend towards putting tbe individual first has

Palestinian women: in the front line

As the uprising in the Israeli-occupied territories continues, Palestinian women take a radical appraisal of their role in the struggle.

ECOGNITION by an enemy recognition indeed. In June he Israeli occupation authirities closed down a major alestinian charity in the West Bank, run hy women for women and their families, and erving nearly 15,000 people.

And on July I the Israelis racked down on the more ecent popular committee movement, making it illegal for anyone to take part.

Palestinian women are also a najor force in the popular movement, whether in side seawomen's committees or in medical, agricultural, and neighbourhood committees.

Palestinian women are fully involved in the intifada (uprising) in the Israeli-occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip, now in its eighth month. Present attitudes are a far cry from the past. "Honour before land," they said in pre-1948 Palestine, and some families did flee the fighting to protect their women's honour. They did not think this would lead to a 40-year exile from their land.

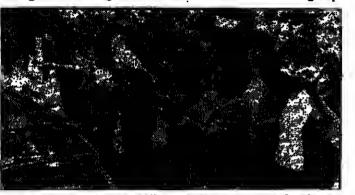

Today. Palestinian women doctors join their male colleagues in breaking the cur-few to treat the injured in the villages. As Dr Jumana Odeh puts it: "No one thinks about whether they like it or not; we just have to do it." Their families worry if they are kept out overnight because of clashes, but not about the women's behaviour or honour. Role Even the older women's traditional role of homemaker has taken on a political dimension: home-based food production, leading to slow disengagement from the Israeli economy, is a key aim of the upris-ing. Teaching also carries a new dimension. Mary Khass, a Palestinian educator in Gaza told a recent conference in Oxford that during curfews women arranged home-based education and other activities.

It was especially important, Khass said, to keep the smaller children calm during clashes. They wanted to imitate their older brothers and sisters, but they suffered greatly from fear: "When the Israeli jeeps wine, they huddle in a corner; when the jeeps are gone they are heroes." But not all the little ones are frightened.

Last month, a six-year-old girl in Nahlus picked up a hand-ful of stones to throw at a group of soldiers stationed on the roof of her house. When they ran towards her, she stood her ground. "Why are you attack-ing us?" the soldiers asked. Because I want you to leave my house," she said. "It's my house, and your teargas comes into my room. Go away!"

By now, close to 300 Palestinians have been killed by bullets, rubber bullets, beatings or teargas inhalation since the intifada began. Of the dead, many women have been imprisoned.

Some women, like the journalist Nahida Nazzal, have been gaoled under the notorious "administrative detention" procedures, which effectively allow for six months in prison without trial (thousands of West Bankers and Gazans have been interned under these procedures). Just how deep-rooted are the changes in women's roles? Often, women have participated in a war effort or national liberation movements only to find that, at the end of the conflict, they are expected to return to the home to carry out the same traditional tasks (women in Britain have only to think back to the days of the First and Second World Wars). But this is unlikely to be the case with Palestinian women, because of the way they mohilised before the uprising tool place. From the 1920s until the late 1970s over 200 charitable organisations were set up in the West Bank and Gaza, most run and managed by women.

Many of these "traditional" societies were very successful. They served not only as an outlet for women's energies, but also provided badly needed services for deprived sectors of society and income-generating projects for women were more

A target of oppression

ON June 20 at 1 am, Israeli Army officers hauled a 65-yearold Palestinian grandmother, Samiha Khalil, from her West Bank home and took her to the offices of the charity which she founded and runs.

There, the commanding officer read her a two-year closure order. Mrs Khalil, who founded the Society for the Family (Inaash al-Usra) 23 years ago, refused to sign the

At her own press conference later the same day, Mrs Khalil denied these charges: "We refuse to teach our children any kind of hatred ... on the contrary, we extend a hand of friendship to the Jews.

The closure of the Society means economie hardship for nearly 15.000 people. Inaash al-Usra is the first major charita-ble institution to be shut down hy the occupation authorities." It was registered as a charity under Jordanian law, the registration being carried over after the Israeli occupation of 1967. Mrs Khalil has dedicated her life to the Society, at great personal cost. A widow, she has spent years under town arrest, without being charged, and has been unable to travel to see her children, all of whom live forces, are not allowed to visit her. She was even unable to attend her son's funeral in the Jordanian capital, Amman, last year. Still, Mrs Khalil and her colleagues have persevered, building the Society into the institution it is today from modest beginnings in a garage with one used sewing machine and a loan of £200. Now, in addition to some 150 full-time employees, 4.800 women are engaged in emhroidery work in their homes for the Society to sell ahroad.

Earn

Many women earn nearly half their family's income in this way.

To hreak the Society's dependence on fund-raising, a biscuit production unit was set up, and soon contributed to the charitable projects like the orphanage. A sewing factory was just about to find its financial feet.

The Society also sponsored many cultural projects, including a Palestinian museum.

Equally important, the Society helps some 1,300 needy families with money each week; they will now be deprived of this vital source of income. Others who will suffer include some 200 women who attend the Society's vocational training programmes.

Mrs Khalil was due to speak at a conference on the West Bank and Gaza in Oxford in July; she was not allowed out of the country to attend (she has been unable to travel to over 40 eonferences during the last eight years).

Her paper was distributed during the conference. In it she makes no secret of her belief in the justice of the Palestinian cause, and her determination to carry on.

'If they elose the door in our face, we will enter from the window; if they close the window, we will drill through the roof and enter to continue our path," she said. "They may refuse to give us egaljtarian in outlook.

The new women's committees reached out to villages and refugee camps, but tried not to impose irrelevant urban models on the women from these areas.

Response

Rather, women were invited to develop a local response to the problems they faced. The villagers and refugee camp women then formed their own committees, sending representatives to the head committee.

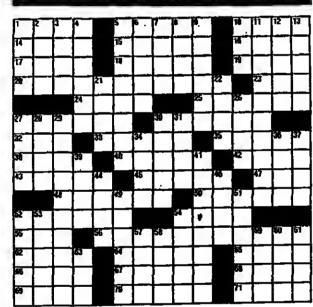

Over the last decade, a threefold message has reached women through these contuittees; organise to improve your socicties, organise to protect your rights in the family, and organise for national libera-

As one of the women puts it: 'If a woman is going to participate only in the national struggle, she'll bave to start at square one after liberation." The uprising bas also been characterised by unprecedented unity, the groundwork for which was also laid over the past decade. For example, women from the new committees co-ordinated with the older charities, although their approaches differed.

It is this spirit of co-ordination and self-reliance that has enabled the West Bank and Gaza Palestinians to sustain a high level of what is effectively a non-violent struggle (only four Israelis have been killed in intifada-related incidents). In spite of the Israeli claim that the uprising is over, there are at least 50 clashes and demonstrations a week coupled with regular allout strikes.

One West Banker summed up the women's view: "We are struggling against the occupation at the same time as we struggle against a certain male domination. We are not prepared to return to things as they were before."

popular lecturers on Royal Viking Line bridge cruises, internationalist Ron Von der Porten. He feared, correctly, that a low diamond lead would present declarer with his game-going trick, so he chose to look elsewhere for his opening salvo. He decided that the card least likely to eost a trick was the king of spades! Declarer won the ace and ran six hearts, discarding three spades and a cluh from hand. East echoed in clubs and also discarded a spade and a diamond while West let go three diamonds. South could still have made the contract hy leading a spade, since the opposing spades were now 2-2 but, convinced that West had started with K-Q-10, that didn't even cross his mind. Instead, he led a diamond to the queen. Von der Porten took his king and continued his fine defense hy exiting with the king of cluhs. That assured the defenders of five tricks—one in each hlack suit and three diamonds when East was able to push a diamond through declarer's J-9.

While we admire West's handiwork, let's not forget to pat East on the hack for his thoughfulness in signalling in clubs to show possession of a high card.

Dear Junior Readers,

You have probably already been reminded half a million times by your parents, so I do not think you will be terribly pleased when I also tell you that a new school term is just around the comer!

No doubt the next few weeks will be spent getting clothes and equipment ready, but remember that you have to prepare your mind and change some of the bad habits you have got into during this long summer break, like going to bed and getting up late and doing little or no studying.

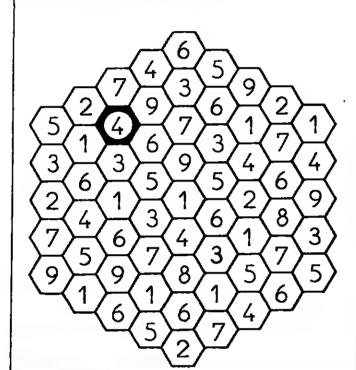

I can hear you moaning and groaning about having to get up early again in the mornings and having to do homework, but try also to see the positive side, like seeing old friends again, or making new ones, and doing something useful and interesting with your time.

Most of oil, you should understand that you are preparing for your tuture because, as I have said before, people do not usually get very for in this world without on education behind them.

EVERY afternoon, as they were coming from school, the children used to go and play in the giant's garden.

It was a large lovely garden with soft green grass. Here and there over the grass stood heautiful flowers like stars, and there were twelve peach-trees that in the spring-time hroke out into delicate hlossoms of pink and pearl, and in the autumn bore rich fruit. The hirds sat on the trees and sang so sweetly that the children used to stop their games in order to listen to them. "How happy we are!" they cried to each other.

One day the giant came hack. He had been to visit his friend the Cornish ogre, and had stayed with him for seven years. After the seven years were over he had said all that he had to say, for his conversation was limited, and he determined to return to his own castle. When he arrived he saw the children playing in the garden. What are you doing here?" he cried in a very gruff voice, and the children ran away.

"My own garden is my own garden," said the giant; "any one can understand that, and I will allow nobody to play in it hut myself." So he huilt a high wallall round it, and put up a noticeboard which read, "Trespassers will he prosecuted."

He was a very selfish

The poor children had now nowhere to play. They tried to play on the road, hut the road was very dusty and full of hard stones, and they did not like it. They used to wander round the high walls when their lessons were over, and talk about the beautiful garden inside. "How happy we were there!" they said to each other.

Then the spring came, and all over the country there were little hlossoms and little birds. Only in the garden of the selfish giant it was still winter. The birds did not care to sing in it as there were no children, and the trees forgot to blossom. Once a beautiful flower put its head out from the grass, hut when it saw the noticehoard it was so sorry for the children that it slipped hack into the ground again, and went off to sleep. The only people who were pleased were the snow and the frost. "Spring has forgotten this garden," they cried, "so we will live here all the year round.' The snow covered up the grass with her great white cloak, and the frost painted all the trees silver.

"I cannot understand why the spring is so late in coming," said the selfish giant, as he sat at the window and looked out at his cold, white garden; "I hope there will be a change in the weather."

But the spring never came, nor the summer. The autumn gave golden fruit to every garden, hut to the giant's garden she gave none. "He is too selfish," she said. So it was always winter there, and the north wind and the hail and the frost and the snow danced about through the trees.

One morning the giant was lying awake in bed when he heard some lovely music. It sounded so sweet to his ears that he thought it must be the king's musicians passing hy. It was really only a little linnet singing ontside his window, hut it was so long since he had heard a hird sing in his garden that it seemed to him to be the most beautiful music in the world. Then the hail stopped dancing over his head. and the north wind ceased roaring and a delicious perfume came to him through the open casement. "I believe the spring has come at last," said the giant; and he jumped out of bed and looked

What did he see? He saw a most wonderful sight. Through a little hole in the wall the children had crept in, and they were sitting in the branches of the trees. In every tree that he could see there was a little child. And the trees were so glad to have the children back again that they had covered themselves with hlossoms, and were waving their arms gently above the children's heads. The hirds were flying about and twittering with delight, and the flowers were looking upthrough the green grass and laughing. It was a lovely scene, only in one corner it was still winter. It was the farthest corner of the garden, and in it was standing a little boy. He was so small that he could not reach up to the hranches of the tree, and he was wandering all round it, crying bitterly. The poor tree was still covered with frost and snow, and the north wind was hlowing and roaring above it. "Climh up! little hoy," said the tree, and it bent its branches down as low as it tree, and then I will knock down the wall, and my garden shall be the children's playground for ever and ever." He was really very sorry for what he had done.

So he crept downstairs and opened the front door quite softly, and went out into the garden. But when the children saw him they were so frightened that they all ran away, and the garden hecame winter again. Only the little boy did not run for his eyes were so full of tears that he did not see the giant coming. And the giant stole up behind him and took him gently in his hand, and put him up into the tree. And the tree hroke at once into hlossom, and the hirds came and sang on it, and the little boy stretched out his two arms and flung them round the giant's neck, and kissed him. And the other children, when they saw that the giant was not wicked any longer, came running back, and with them came the spring. "It is your garden now, little children," said the giant, and he took a great axe and knocked down the wall. And when the people were going to market at twelve o'clock they found the giant playing with the children in the most ever seen. All day long they played, and in the evening they came to the giant to say beautiful garden they had good-bye.

"But where is your little companion?" he said: "The boy I put into the tree." The giant loved him the best because he had kissed him, and had not been afraid.

"We don't know," answered the children; "he has gone away,"

"You must tell him to be sure and come tomorrow,' said the giant. But the children said that they did not know where he lived, and had never seen him before; and the giant felt very sad.

Every afternoon, when school was over, the children came and played with the giant. But the little hoy whom the giant loved was never seen again. The giant was very kind to all the children, yet he longed for his first little friend. "How I would like to see him!" he used to say.

Years went hy, and the giant grewvery old and feehle. He could not play about any more, so he sat in a huge arm-chair, and watched the children at their games, and admired his garden. "I have many beautiful flowers," he said, "hut the children are the most beautiful flowers of

One winter morning he looked out of his window as he was dressing. He did not hate the winter now, for he knew that it was merely the spring asleep, and that the flowers were resting.

Suddenly he ruhbed his eyes in wonder and looked and looked. In the farthest corner of the garden was a tree quite covered with lovely white hlossoms. Its hranches were golden, and silver fruit hung down from them, and underneath it stood the little hoy he had loved.

Downstairs ran the giant in great joy, and out into the garden. He hastened across the grass, and came near to the child.

And the child smiled on the giant, and said to him, "You let me play once in your garden, today you shall come with me to my garden, which is paradise.

And when the children ran in that afternoon, they found the giant lying dead under the tree, all covered with white hlossoms.

Western diplomats in Baghdad who bave been advising their governments to exercise cautioo but not abstentioo from Iraq's market, suspect that very little if any of the estimated $35 billion Iraq owes to Arah countries will be repaid or is expected hy creditor countries.

The analysts believe that the Arab states may write off the dcht as an investment in war effort. If Iraq was to generate maximum revenues to repay its Arah creditors it would have to maximise its oil production. This, in turn, would bave a disastrous effect on oil prices, hurting other Arab OPEC members. from taking up maximum credit offered by the Western power.

Coofidence in Iraq's ability to repay loans offered in 1983/84 faltered in 1986 when Baghdad failed to meet some of its commercial obligations, missiog interest payments and defaulting letters of credit. Vast imports and an unfounded hope at the time of an early end to the Gulf war forced the country into a position of impartial insolvency and its commercial partoers to recoosider trade with the Arah states.

Japan under pressure to raise interest rates

TOKYO: Aug 15: Among the ecocomie superpowers, ooly Japan has resisted raising official interest rates recently. But the pressure oo Japanese monetary authorities is building, reports the Wall Street Journal.

Ecocomists and other analysts here say the US Federal Reserve Board's decision last Tuesday to boost its discount rate by half a percentage point to 6.5 per cent is the latest and strongest io a sequence of factors that eveotually could prompt the Bank of Japan to raise its own discount rate. Some predicted an increase could come later this month if the dollar continues to soar. A discouot rate is the interest central banks apply oo loans to fioaocial institutions. While shifts in a discount rate often lag ioterhaok or commercial interest-rate chaoges, they are an important indicator of the longterm direction of interest rates.

For oow, market watchers said the mooetary policy of the Bank of Japan, the country's ceotral bank, is focused predomioantly on exchange rates and the possible inflationary effect that could result from a decline io the value of the ven.

Most Japan's imports are denominated in dollars, and any increase in the dollar's value could translate to higher prices at

Increase

The dollar already is hovering just below its 1988 high of 135.70 yen. Economists said that if it moves significantly above that level, it could force the Bank of Japao to consider raising its official rates, to complement a recent but gradual tightening of ioterbank rates. Helped by news of the US discount-rate increase, the dollar finished on Wedoesday in Tokyo at 134.92 yen, up

1.34 yen. Officially, Japan's monetary stance remains restrained. Finance Mioister Kiichi Miyazawa, who has opposed Bank of Japan intervention to support the yen, said after the US rate-increase that he sees oo oeed for a shift in Japan's mooetary policy. The Fed's rate iocrease, which brings the US discount rate to its highest level in more than two years, caught Japanese financial markets off-guard. "Nobody predicted this," said Richard C. Koo, ao economist at Nomura Securities Co.'s research unit.

Despite the fresh impetus provided by the Fed's rate however, maoy analysts believe Japanese authorities have ample room to manoeuvre without resorting to a discount-rate ioerease. Still, if Japan does go that route, according to Teruo Shinato, a money-market economist at Fuji Bank, the Fed's action elears away a possible obstacle to a matching move hy Japao. Sioce last October's stock-market crash, Japanese authorities have been wary of leading the US in official rate iocreases for fear of aggravating market jitters.

UK interests likely to do best in Iraq

LONDON, Aug 15, (KUNA): British companies could take a substantial share of the vast trading opportunities which would open as Iran and Iraq start a reconstruction programme to repair the ravages of the war, according to a report published

The predictioo comes from international and multi-lateral companies race to scize the new trading opportunities, the Times newsp .per said.

Orders

It pointed out that Iran has invited British companies to take part in Tehran's trade fair starting oo September 13.

It is expected that more than 20 British companies will attend and among them are likely to be electrical generating machinery makers, the paper added.

In the meantime, the Baghdad fair later in the year is expected to take about 45 British companies to Iraq seeking orders, double the number at the fair last year.

The trade experts predicted that British interests are likely to do best in Iraq because of the business links that have been maiotained during the eight-year war, and help which has been given including substantial lioes of credit.

However, they also believe that there would be still sig-nificant trading with Iran io the post-war era.

British exports to Iraq last year were worth £270 million compared with a pre-war £623 Britain had 10 per cent of the Iraqi market last year.

UK exports to Iran were worth even more at £300 million for 1987, compared with £400 The Times noted that the first priority for both countries would be the restoration of oil productioo capacity, where damage to caused Iran £14.7 billion, and to Iraq £4.8 billioo.

That could hring benefits to British coterprises which are mostly offshoots of Uoited States coocerns.

Relations In a related development, it was also revealed that a restoratioo of full relations between Britain and Iran could mean that

Fed move right for economy, says Baker

WASHINGTON, Aug 15, (Reuter): Treasury Secretary James Baker said today the Federal Reserve Board's increase in the discount rate last Tuesday was the right move to preserve economic growth and hold down inflation. Baker, asked in a television interview about the half-point increase to 6.5 per cent, said: "The Federal Reserve has done a good job in preserving the balance — which, after all, is their fundamental responsibility between maintaining growth on the one hand and being vigitant against inflation on the other." He added: "I think that's what they were doing this week." Baker is to leave the Treasury post this week to head Vice-President George Bush's presidential campaign. The increase in the discount rate, which the board said was made to reduce inflationary pressures, was unexpected as it came just u few mouths before the presidential election and analysts said it may hort Bush's chances against his Democratic rival Michnel Dukukis. The Fed's action has been followed hy private bank rate increases and is expected to trigger higher interest rates for consumers buying home and cars. Despite these effects, Baker said that "io the medium and long term it (the Fed uction) will be a very good thing for the American economy and permit us to continue this very successful expansion without inflation well into next year."

Jordan takes measures to boost investments

AMMAN, Aug 15, (Reuter): Jordan said yesterday it had taker. steps to encourage investment and boost exports and had eased protectionist measures on several local commodities. A statement from the prime minister's office said hans oa importing some locally-produced goods, including food products, detergents and batteries, would be lifted and replaced with import tariffs. Import bans would be retained on some other items, including tomato paste, tohacco, fresh milk and cheese, mineral water and salt. The statement said the cabinet had also decided to offer tax incentives for investment to productive fields. A special department would be created in the Trade Ministry to deal with investment inquiries by local and foreign businesses. The cabinet asked the Central Bank and the Finance Ministry to prepare a draft law on export guarantees and to study the feasibility of providing credit to Arab and foreign exporters of Jordanian goods. Jordan's main exports include potash, phosphates, glass, eggs, and processed food.

South-East Asian producers to co-ordinate on oil prices JAKARTA, Aug 15, (Reuter): Ministers from Indonesia, Bruner and Malaysia will meet on the Indonesian resort island of Bali next Saturday to discuss closer co-operation between the three South-East Asian oil producers, officials said today. "I will look into the possibility whether the three countries can set up a co-ordination forum, not necessarily an organisation, but just a consultation forum," Indonesian Energy Minister Ginanjar Kartasasmita told reporters. He said it was Indonesia's job, as part of cootacts by Organisation of Petroleum Exporting Countries with non-OPEC producers, to meet Brunei and Malaysia. "The three of us will meet in Bali to discuss the current development in oil prices. . . . We will also discuss how to promote co-operation between OPEC and non-OPEC producers effectively, and the cooperation between the three South-East Asian oil exporters," Ginanjar, who is a member of OPEC's five-member price comment reached an agreement in principle to further reduce the budget to 7 per cent of gross national product next year, officials said today. Under the accord, the 1989 budget deficit should not exceed 403 billion francs ($10.1 hillion), forcing the government to issue new austerity measures totalling 66 billion francs ($1.65 billion). No details of the new bi available until Prime Minister Wilfred Martens has informed King Bandonin on the final text on Monday. Martens, who has been seeking to slash the deficit from 13 per cent of GNP to 7 per cent since 1982, has led a cootre-right coalition before leading the current coalition of Socialist and Christian Democrats - both split in Dutch and French-speaking parties — and a Dutch speaking autonomy party since the spring.

WORLD INTL

ABU DHABI, August 15, (Reuter): A major UAE bank said today it was interested in financing joint ventures between Soviet and UAE companies.

"We are ready to consider financing such projects," Sultan Al Suweidi, managing director of Ahu Dhabi Commercial Bank (ADCB), told Reuters.

The ADCB, owned by Abu Dhabi emirate, in April became the first UAE bank to lend money to the Soviet Union with a $50 million deal.

KD deposit rates stable

KUWAITI dinar deposit rates were mostly steady in quiet trade yesterday, hut maturing Central Bank funds caused some shortterm rates to fall.

Dealers said funds raised by the Central Bank during previous interventions in the market were maturing over the next two days, and as a result tomorrow-next and spot-next fell to six, five per cent after bids of eight per cent on Sunday.

One-week was also affected. falling by 1-1/2 points to seven, six, but overnight rates were unchanged at 11 per cent.

· The dealers said the Central Bank had offered one-month funds to several banks nn Sun day, but reported no sign of any intervention yesterday. The Central Bank set the dinar firmer at 0.28310/20 to the dollar from Sunday's 0.28378/88 and commercial banks quoted

0.28310/15. Meanwhile Saudi riyal deposit rates eased at the shorter end of the market yesterday after the government released payments. held up over the Muslim pilgrimage (haj) holiday, dealers

The dealers said the payments appeared to have been held up as government operations slowed down over the baj bolidays.

services next year. The error was pointed nut to congressinnal aides in the last few days by the agency that committed it — the White House's Office of Management and Bud-

OMB nfficials confirmed this past week that the mistake had been made, and said they had told congressional staff members about it.

OMB's error came in estimating how close spending programmes enacted so far come to the $146 billinn deficit ceiling for next year that is set in the balanced hudget law.

Estimate OMB's official estimate is that Congress still can spend $1.8 billion before the deficit ceiling is reached, even though the agency nnw concedes the figure should be $3 billinn.

In the context of the $1.1 trillion federal budget goes, $1.2 billion would barely register a tick. But the amount is significant because it means that Congress will have to squeeze spending for anti-drug programmes, the homeless, the hungry and other popular causes under a $1.8 billion ceiling, rather than what should be a $3 billion limit. OMB nfficials, questioned about the error, said it was an honest mistake.

Asked how it was made, OMB spnkeswoman Barbara Clay said, "we dnn't know."

But the hlunder could cause frictinn between lawmakers trying to choose among what they see as competing spending neces-sities, and administration officials arguing that the federal deficit should be kept as low as possible.

Rep. Leon Panetta, whn is expected to become chairman nf the House Budget Committee next year, said that if the spending pressures are too great. Congress may have to consider leg-islation that would free up the $1.2 billion.

"If it's an error and does not reflect in fact where we stand, it's an option that should be considered," he said.

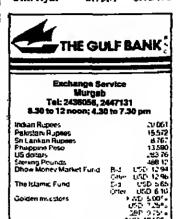

But in a prepared statement, administration hudget director James C. Miller III said he would "oppose any tinkering" with the law "for purposes that would increase the deficit."

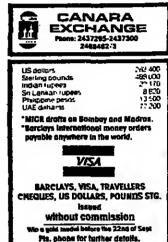

Under the law, OMB analyses the economy and federal spending and revenues several times annually, projecting how much red ink is likely in the coming fiscal year.

Wall Street stocks eased after other figures showing that US industrial output rose a strongerthan-expected eight tenths of one per cent in July.

That reinforced a view that the US economy is still expanding hriskly enough to warrant concern about inflation and possibly higher interest rates 10 pinch off spending.

fevered consumer spending

The government announced that sales in British shops rose two per cent to a record in July. Other figures showed a decline in output from Britain's own factories in June.

Boom

The consumer boom was fuelled by tax cuts earlier this year and hy easy credit. It threatens both higher inflation and, as imports rise, a burgeoning trade gap.

The combination of a surge in UK retail sales for July and a fall in UK June industrial output fuelled concern about inflationary pressure in the British economy and pushed shares lower today, dealers said.

Dealers said selling pressure today was fairly light, but noted the UK banking authorities were in a difficult position regarding interest rate policy. While higher interest rates could dampen consumer demand, they could also increase costs to producers and impede industrial expansion.

Today's data showed July retail sales rose a provisional seasonally adjusted two pct in July after being unchanged in June. The July figure was well centred on an increase of around

UK industrial output fell a provisional seasonally adjusted 0.85 pct in June after an upward revised 0.94 pct rise in May.

But dealers warned about reading too much into one mon-th's statistics. Market analysts Jerry Evans at County Natwest said "I wouldn't put too much emphasis on today's industrial production figures, there's been strong growth over the past three months.

money markets rates showed the key three month interbank sterling rate up 1/8 point to 11-3/8 1/4 pct. Money dealers said the rise was caused by today's economic figures, which underlined concern about rising UK inflation pressures.

Tomorrow hrings US merchandise trade figures for June, expected by some forecasters to show a deficit of around $11 billion against a deficit of 10.93 billion in May.

Currency dealers said the dollar was marking time ahead of tomorrow's US trade figures.

A deficit much bigger than May's $10.9 billion would be negative for the dollar. Good figures could send it back to 19month highs of around 1.92 marks which it touched in a powerful rally last week.

High US interest rates, raised to counter inflation, make many dollar assets an attractive huy. Gold closed the London trading day easier at $431.05 an ounce. Oil prices were slightly

NICOSIA, Cyprus, (AP): OPEC chairman Rilwanu Lukman is optimistic that the oil organisation's major problems — per-suading Iraq to accept a produc-tion quota and the UAE to suck to its quota — can be solved, an oil industry newsletter said

BOMBAY: Market closed for inflation under control To combat higher inflation -

LONDON, Aug 15. (AP): Just a few months ago, Britain's econ-omic "disease" of rampant inflation, sky-high interest rates and persistent unemployment was pronounced cured by just about everyone except the Conservative government's staunchest critics.

Today, the economy is suffer-ing something of a relapse, exhibiting that old familiar sym-ptom, higher inflation. The government admits it is troubling.

In addition, a hike in interest rates and a sharp widening of the trade deficit are worrying economists. Unemployment is down, but there are disputes over the amount of the decline and what employment policy the government should pursue.

Ironically, the cause of the inflation is the economy's new vigorous bealth.

The peak came in March when the Treasury's top official, Chan-cellor of the Exchequer Nigel Lawson, announced the first surplus hudget in nearly 20 years and slashed the top income tax rate to 40 per cent from 60 per Spending Since then, attention has turned instead to Britain's annual inflation rate, which, fed by strong consumer spending, has jumped from 3.5 per cent to 4.6 per cent in June. In his budget speech, Lawson bad forecast an inflation rate of 4 per cent hy the Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's No. 1 economic priority the government has pushed interest rates up three percentage points since early June.

UK ready to take action to keep

Seeking to curb consumer spending, which economists say should grow about 6 per cent in 1988, the Bank of England six times signalled half-point increases in the commercial banks' base lending rate. The benchmark rate went from a 10year low of 7.5 per cent to 10.5 per cent by late July.

Deficit

Strength in the dollar gave the government room 10 raise interest rates without pushing the British pound dangerously high. But the pound, which has been trading at about 3.20 West German marks, remains well above a rate of 3 marks which the government long had protected. The pound broke through that ceiling in March, raising concerns that Britain's export competitiveness might be hurt. Indeed, the trade deficit is much worse than Lawson had forecast.

For the past six months of 1988. Britain had a current

The administration has been pressing newly industrialising Asian nations to end the link their money has with the dollar, which gives them an advantage in trade with the United States.

Yeutter, echoing the views of other trade specialists and economists, also said he did not think the new trade bill, first introduced in Congress in 1985 as a way to cut the massive US trade deficit, would do much to cut the deficit

The deficit hit a record $170 billion last year, but has been falling slightly in recent months. Yeutter said the deficit was due chiefly to many long-range economic factors, including rates and industrial competitiveness. the names and designations of their representatives at least two days prior to the meeting. Tender No. MEW/22/2/15-88/89

TORONTO, Aug 15, (Reuter): Top-ranked Ivan Lendl threatened to walk out on his match against Kevin Curren yesterday but reconsidered and then went on to win his fifth Canadian

Open tennis title. Lendl, who did not drop a set in this hardcourt warm-up for the US Open, defeated Curren 7-6(12-10) 6-2 to take the $119,700 winner's prize. Curren earned Disputes over line ealls marked the first set tiebreaker. With Lendl up 5-3 in the tiebreaker, the South Africanborn Curren tucked a forehand passing shot in the corner for a Winner to move within a point of the Czechoslovak.

Remove Lendl, who thought the ball was long, asked chair umpire Richard Ings to remove the lineswoman who made the call, but he Lendl then sent a topspin loh long to allow Curren to level it at 5-5. Curren, frustrated at a twominute delay in which Lendl argued the earlier call, faulted on his next serve but Ings awarded Curren a let and warned Lendl about stalling.

Lendl responded by stalking to his seat and threatening to forfeit the final. "Take that (point) away or 1'm not coming back," Lendl yelled at Ings.

"She's (the lineswoman) screwing up the match.

Curren won the controversial let point to go up 6-5 but could not put the set away. He squandered a second set point at 8-7. before Lendl finally won the breaker when Curren touched an easy volley into the net.

Curren, still upset, doublefaulted to lose his service in the first game of the second sel-Lendl broke through again to go up 5-2 before serving out to end the two-hour match.

The victory boosted Lendi's career prize earnings to $12.7 million and ensured his world number one status for a 153rd successive week. Lendl is chasing the all-time record of 160 straight weeks at the top set hy Jimmy Connors.

Curren said he was frustrated with Lendi's stalling in the 20-minute-long tiebreaker.

"When it drags on it becomes a hit of a distraction. When it reoccurs, and you're waiting and waiting it's frustrating," said "But Ivan's a fair player - he doesn't usually argue calls unless be feels he has a case. But you do have a little leverage when you're Ivan Lendl and you're number Lendl defended his behaviour.

"I just felt in a match like this there weren't any reasons for innacurate calls, I didn't understand why the umpire didn't overrule some line calls."

The top seed said he would be in favour of using an electronic device to officiate the sport.

"I'm for il more than 100 per cent," Lendl said. "We don't have hand timing anymore in track and field, why should we have human error in tennis? If we could find a (electronie) system. I'd be happy to accept it."

Without

Lendl steamed through the tournament without dropping a set in victories over Americans Todd Witsken and Jay Berger, Australian John Frawley, American veteran Jimmy Connors and Curren.

Lendl also avenged his fourthround loss to Curren in the third round of the 1986 player's and broke a two-match losing streak in Nahisco Grand Prix tour-naments to the Austin, Texas, resident.

Curren, who lost the 1985 Wimhledon final to Boris Becker of West Germany, got a hig hreak on the first day of the tour-

A stylish yet reclusive figure, hedwarfed the Italian motor racing scene with a career that saw his world-famous Formula One cars reap nine World Championships - a feat unmatched by any other stable.

A former racing driver who started to make cars under his own name in 1943 at a small factory at Maranello, south of Modena in northern Italy, Ferrari once said: "My real passion was never to drive cars but to

The drivers who piloted his cars read like a motor racing Hall of Fame — Alberto Ascari, Juan Fangio, Wolfgang von Trips, Mike Hawthorn, John Surtees, Niki Lauda, Michele Alboreto and Gerhard Berger.

Despite his success, Ferrari was often at the centre of bitter controversy following the many fatal accidents involving his drivers. He stood trial in 1957 on manslaughter charges but was acquitted on all counts.

A string of crashes which killed many of his best drivers in the 1950s and 1960s prompted the Vatican newspaper, L'Os-servatore Romano, to describe him as "a modern Saturn who continues to devour his sons."

His life was strongly affected by the loss in 1956 of his adored son Dino, whose death from muscular dystrophy made him withdraw into a semi-reclusive rivate life from which he never fully re-emerged.

"Cars are the only friends I really trust," he once said. Born on February 20, 1898 in Modena, the son of a prosperous carpenter, Ferrari developed a

In a rare interview, he described his achievements in the following terms: "I have done no more than fulfil an adolescent dream, which has enabled me to satisfy my ferocious egoism." To marry an idea, to live with

Tigers end Red Sox' home-win streak at 24

BOSTON Aug 15. (Reuter): The extraordinary home winning streak of the Boston Red Sox ended with a crash yesterday as the Detroit Tigers clohbered the local heroes by a gaudy 18-6 count at Fenway Park.

The defeat halted a string of 24 consecutive wins by the Red Sox in front of the Fenway faithful that stretched back to June 25.

Boston, holders of the American League record, fell short of eclipsing the Major League mark of 26 straight home successes uchieved by the New York Giants of the National League in 1916. Detroit, who were clobbered 16-4 hy the Red Sox on Saturday, widened their lead in the East Division 10 3-1/2 games over

Boston. Meanwhile, Luis Aquino hopes the Toronto Blue Jays arc impressed

The Rookie right-hander, formerly in the Blue Jays' organisa-tion, pitched a six-hitter for his first Major-League shutout yes-terday to lead the Kansas City Royals to a 6-0 victory.

"They (the Blue Jays) put me in the hullpen in triple-A and I just wanted to go out there and show them that I can pitch here." said Aquino, ohtained in a trade with the Blue Jays in July, 1987. Aquino, who struck out four and walked three, was especially pleased about pitching his first complete game in the Majors. The Indians' Greg Swindell won for just the third time in his last 13 decisions and Brook Jaeohy homered as Cleveland won despite only for hits against Texas starter Bohhy Witt, Swindell, 13-11, allowed six hits, struck out five and walked two in 7-1/2 innings.

For the Yankees, Jack Clark's two-run single hroke a fifth-inning tie and New York added five more runs in the seventh to beat Minnesota.

Mickey Tettleton, Eddie Murray and Cal Ripken homered to lead a 16-hit attack as Baltimore held on to beat Milwaukee. California ended Oakland's six-game winning streak as Tony Armas went 4-for- 5 with two home runs, including a tie-hreaking shot in the seventh inning. Seattle hroke open its game against the White Sox with five runs in the bottom of the second against Chicago starter Bill Long, 4-8, who has lost four straight. Mike Moore pitched a

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug 15, (Reuter): American swimmers will be competing next month in their first Olympics against East Europeans since 1976 and US Olympic coach Richard Quick is confident they will win most

"I won't give a specific num-ber, hut we will win more than any other country," Quick said after the US Olympic trials last

"I think we're going to have as strong an Olympic team as we've ever bad." Despite his optimism, Quick does not foresee a repeat of the 1976 Montreal Olympics when the US won every men's event except one and claimed top two places in all hut two men's mdividual races.

Assured

"There's no doubt the world has caught up with American swimming," be said. "The challenge used to be to make the Olympic team because in about 90 per cent of the cases a swimmer was almost automatically assured of winning a medal. Those days are gone.

Coacb Quiek said he thnught the Olympic results were likely to follow the pattern of world records because "it's probably going to take a world record to win in Seoul."

Of the 26 Olympic individual events, the US have active swimmers with world records in 10 West Germany two and Hungary two. At the six-day US Olympic trials, three world records were set, two by David Berkoff in the 100 melres backstroke and a new 100 metres freestyle standard by Matt Biondi. Twelve American records also fell at the University of Texas Swim Centre.

"We will probably see more records in the Olympics than we did in the trials," said Quick. Here the kids were trying to qualify in every event they could. When they get to Seoul, for most of them, they will be in only one nr two events and can really concentrate on those." Besides Berkoff and Biondi, a leading US favourite for Olympic gold is 15-year-old Janet Evans, who dominated the women's distance events at the trials and set an American record in the 400 metres individual mediev.
